

Unit 4 Lesson 2 - We will have been reaching the sales target.

Choose the correct answer for each sentence.

1. By next February, I will have writing / written my third book.
2. You will have forgetten / forgotten about the incident by tomorrow.
3. I wish I have not made / making a lot of mistakes in my exam by next week.
4. By the end of this year, I have driven / droven more than a hundred thousand kilometers.
5. Will he have finished / finish his project until 6 o'clock?
6. By this time next week, I have married / marrying my best friend.

Introduce today's sentences.

Grammar Focus

- Future Perfect Progressive

Key Expressions

- They will have been revamping the website for two weeks.
- We will have been reaching the sales target by the end of the month.

Listen to the teacher and repeat.

surge

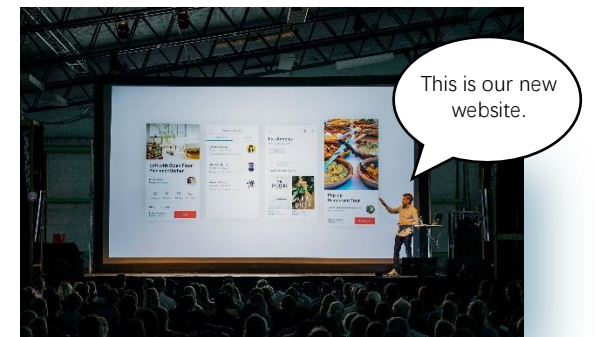

social media platform

revamp

partner

launch

Listen to the audio and repeat.

Bo: Hey Miku! I have something to tell you.

Miku: What is it? Please tell me this isn't another bad news.

Bo: Not at all! I had a meeting with Mr. Tanaka, and we have come up with strategies to help surge our sales this month.

Miku: What are the plans?

Bo: So, we have decided to work on our social media platforms to advertise our products. I will be searching for an advertising agency that can help us. They will have been revamping the website for two weeks when we have our next big meeting with some partners. We must present the final website design by then.

Miku: That's brilliant! I'm pretty sure that we will have been reaching the sales target by the end of the month. All thanks to the launch of our new website.

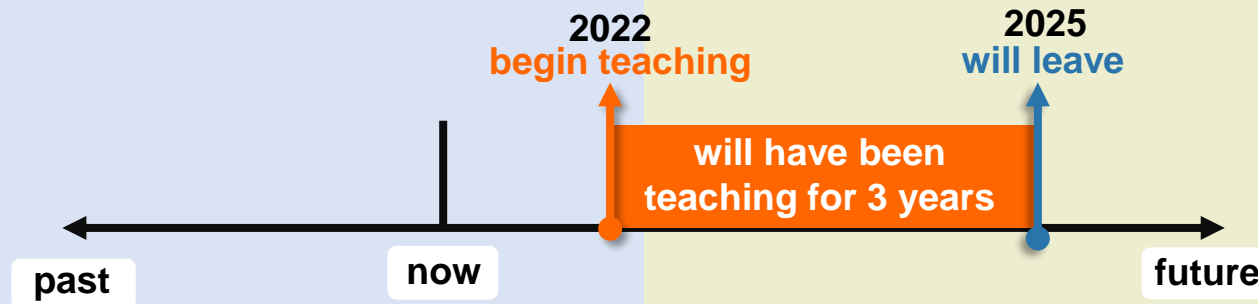

Bo: I'm hoping for the best!

Learn the grammar structures.

Future Perfect Progressive

Used to talk about an action that will continue at a certain time in the future.

He will have been teaching at university for three years by the time he leaves our town.

other examples:

They will have been waiting for me for a long time by the time my plane lands.

They will have been working on the website for two weeks when we have our next big meeting with some partners.

Review the Future Perfect Tense and compare it with the Future Perfect Progressive.

Future Perfect Tense

Future Perfect Progressive

Timeline

Form

Action 1: will + have + past participle
Action 2: simple present

Action 1: will + have + been + ing verb
Action 2: simple present

Usage

The first future action will finish before the second future action.

To describe an action that will continue until a particular event or time in the future.

Time Markers

by the time, until + time

by the time, when

Example

She will have completed the project by the time I call her.

She will have been sleeping for seven hours by the time her alarm clock goes off.

Encircle the mistake of each sentence and give the correct answer.

1. By this school year, she will has been studying French for two years.
2. The garden hose will have been ranning an hour by the time we get back.
3. The children will be tired tonight because they will have being playing outside for 5 hours.
4. By tomorrow, Ana will not have been babysit for three hours.
5. She will be sleepy when she gots to class, because she will have been working all night.
6. If James goes this winter, he will have been skiing in Vermont every year since he was eight.

Fill in the blank with the future perfect progressive form of the verb in parentheses.

1. He will _____ (live) in Canada for six months in August.
2. We will _____ (wait) in line for five hours at six o'clock.
3. Will they _____ (plan) the party by next week?
4. The students will not be tired tonight because they will _____ (relax) by 4 hours.
5. Next year will be Mr. Takuri's anniversary; he will _____ (work) for ten years.
6. He will _____ (travel) to Tokyo by the time I call him.

Activity

Make future perfect progressive sentences using the pictures and timeline given.

study Spanish

graduate

watch TV

brother come home

practice

join big race

Situation: Your company will celebrate its 10th anniversary next week. Your team is assigned to plan the event. Discuss with your members what you will have been planning for the event. (Use the learned grammar as much as possible.)

Word Focus

surge social media platform
revamp partner launch

Grammar Focus

- Future Perfect Progressive Tense