

DAILY ENGLISH

E7 - She knew what she felt.

A woman with dark hair is sitting on a wooden floor, wrapped in a bright red blanket. She is holding a white tissue to her nose, appearing to be sneezing or blowing her nose. She is looking down with a slightly distressed expression. The background shows a white door and a window with pink curtains. A semi-transparent white box with a pink border is overlaid on the image, containing text.

Lead-in

1. When was the last time you were sick?
2. How do you know that you're about to get sick?

Target Language

▼ In this lesson, we will learn:

Grammar Focus

Noun Clause as an Object of the Verb

Daily Expression

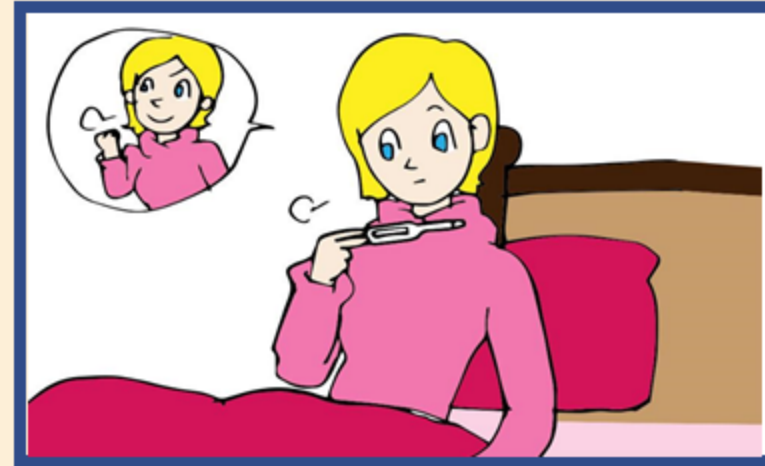

Yumi said that she was sick.
She knew what she felt.

Picture Description

▼ Please describe each picture.

A

B

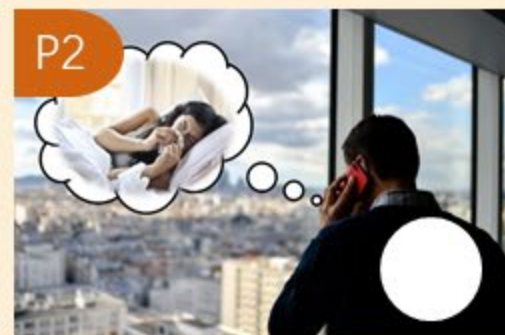

Pronunciation and Matching

▼ Read the example sentences.

1. Yumi said that she was sick.

2. She knew what she felt.

▼ Match the sentences with the corresponding pictures.

Conversation

▼ Listen to the conversation.

A: Didn't you call Yumi yet?

B: Yes, I did. She said she was sick, but she'll be here this afternoon.

A: Really? Will she be okay?

B: Don't worry. She knows herself best. I think she knew what she felt.

Questions:

- Why was Yumi not in the office yet?
- When will she go to the office?
- What did Person A feel when he/she heard that Yumi was sick?

Grammar Focus

▼ Read the grammar structure.

Noun Clause as an Object of the Verb

Yumi said that she was sick.

She knew what she felt.

Grammar Check

- ▼ Convert the underlined words into a noun clause using the given words in the brackets.

01

The teacher asked me my name. (What)

The teacher asked what my name was.

02

Fred's weakness is his carelessness. (That)

03

I don't know about her presence. (Whether)

04

Grace already booked her stay in Canada. (Where)

05

Howard informed us his time of arrival in advance. (When)

Grammar Check

- ▼ Tick (✓) the sentence with a noun clause as an object of the verb. Mark () if the sentence has a noun clause as a subject.

I remember what he looks like.

What she wanted was so obvious.

Why she left is still a mystery.

I forgot when the meeting was.

He didn't know why the plant died.

Where they went is a secret.

Daily Scene

How much do you know about your families and friends? Respond to the questions using the given phrases. Use a noun clause as the object of the verb.

I know...

I don't know...

I forgot...

I wonder...

